Saké

Saké is brewed from rice, water, yeast and koji.
Premium saké is sulfite & gluten free.
Most premium saké should be enjoyed chilled.

Saké has 7 times more amino acids than red wine. Food tastes savory & delicious when it is rich in amino acids.
Hence, saké pairs well with a wide range of food.

Rice polishing: The purpose of polishing is to remove the fats, proteins, oils and vitamins in the outer layers of a rice grain, leaving just the starchy core. Polishing ratio determines the style and category of Saké.

Grades of Saké

Junmai - generally earthy, fuller body, rich in umami
no minimum polish

Honjozo- similar to Junmai but lighter on the palate
minimum 70% polish

Junmai Ginjo & Ginjo - aromatic, smooth, balanced flavors
60% polish or less

Junmai Daiginjo & Daiginjo - elegant, complex, high in aromas
50% polish or less
